Before you purchase any adaptive equipment for your vehicle it is good idea to obtain a driving capabilities assessment performed by a Certified Driver Rehabilitation Specialist (CDRS). This section features a listing of the Association for Driver Rehabilitation Specialists (ADED) CDRS' driver assessment locations. They can help select adaptive equipment for a driver or passenger. There are occupational therapists that can also write "prescriptions" for adaptive equipment, helping to assure that the installed equipment is eligible for Mobility by Volvo financial assistance. Many assessment centers also offer adaptive equipment training, and provide useful information about ways to meet transportation needs.

A – DRIVER ASSESSMENT CENTERS

The evaluation process is paid for by the client and sometimes may be reimbursed by Medicare, State Vocational Rehabilitation Offices, Workers' compensation, and private insurance.
